Ever wondered what happens to all that Building and Construction waste that isn't just dumped for landfill? Instant Waste is opening up their doors to SCLAA, to give you guided information to this state of the art materials recovery processing facility.

The logistics and scope involved will boggle your mind, as will the amount of conveyors running every which way, carrying various types of sorted and separated materials, ranging from bricks, plastics, papers and metals. All with the purpose of providing environmentally beneficial solutions and creating recyclable materials.

Presenter Jake Hickey - WA State Resource Development Manager

Jake has worked in the Construction and associated industries for over 20 years which has covered major government projects and commercial buildings. He has a detailed understanding of the WA construction supply chains and has focused his expertise on developing industries to be sustainable in waste to energy & recycling.
